Berrigan-6 Defense Assails U.S. Bid on New Indictment

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 21—The federal government moved yesterday to dismiss kidnapping conspiracy indictments against the Rev. Pakistan Again Asserts India Is Shelling Across Border

NEW DELHI, April 21 (AP)—The Pakistan government said today that India launched a mortar and machine-gun attack this morning on an East Pakistan border post.

Radio Pakistan said the Indian high commissioner in Islamabad was summoned to the Foreign Ministry and warned that unless India stopped the "unprovoked" attack, "the consequences will lie with the Indian authorities."

In Calcutta, an Indian military spokesman tonight denied the Pakistani charge.

He said the report was designed to "involve India in the conflict in East Pakistan."

"It is likely that there may have been an exchange in the Rangpur area between Pakistani troops and Bangla Desh (East Pakistan) freedom fighters," the spokesman said. "But there has been no firing from Indian territory."

Pakistan radio said the attack on the border post in East Pakistan's Rangpur district, about 250 miles northeast of Calcutta, continued throughout the day.

The radio said Indian forces opened up with mortars and heavy machine-gun fire from their side of the border.

Indian and Pakistan troops are now within a short distance of each other on the tense East Pakistan border following the Pakistani Army drive last week against the secessionist forces of imprisoned Sheikh Mujibur Rahman.

Pakistan made a similar allegation Monday, saying Indian armed forces, using artillery, attacked a border post on the eastern side of the province last week.

Indian officials meanwhile said about 60,000 East Pakistanis crossed into India today, bringing to 318,000 the number of refugees who have fled their secessionist province since the civil war broke out four weeks ago.

There was no end in sight to the continuing stream of refugees seeking shelter in India before the Pakistani Army possibly seals the border.

All but 45,000 of the East Pakistanis have crossed into India's West Bengal State, which adjoins areas of East Pakistan held by the independence forces of Sheikh Mujib until last week.

The official Pakistan radio, broadcasting from Rawalpindi, said the Pakistani Army has ordered Nazrul Islam and Tawhid Ahmed, top-ranking lieutenants of Sheikh Mujib, and three others to report Monday in Dacca to answer charges or face trial in absentia.

Fighting Near Border
NEW DELHI, April 21 (Reuters)—The West Pakistan Army has retreated from the town of Kushtia, near the West Bengal border, after killing about 500 civilians and destroying shops and houses, the Press Trust of India reported today.

The agency quoted reports reaching Krishnagar, in West Bengal, from across the border for its information, which was not confirmed by official sources in Pakistan.

Pakistan today accused India of organizing the hijacking of an Indian airliner to Pakistan last January in order to bring about a confrontation between the two countries and strengthen separatist tendencies within Pakistan.

A Radio Pakistan broadcast reported that a commission of inquiry into the hijacking had concluded that the affair was obviously stage-managed by Indian intelligence. Otherwise the plane's crew would have realized that the hijackers carried only a dummy revolver and hand grenade, the commission said.

Raffaele Minichiello

Minichiello's Term Is Cut, Free May 1

ROME, April 21 (AP)—An Appeals Court today reduced the sentence of airplane hijacker Raffaele Minichiello by four years, giving the former U.S. Marine his unconditional release on May 1.

The reduction—from 7 1/2 years to 3 1/2 years—plus two years off from a general amnesty means Minichiello will be freed after having served 18 months behind bars.

Minichiello, 21, of Seattle, hijacked a Trans World Airlines 707 jetliner from Los Angeles to Rome on Nov. 1, 1969, to set a hijack distance record of nearly 7,000 miles that still stands.

Immediately after the Appeals Court verdict, Minichiello was led off to Rome's Regina Coeli (Queen of Heaven) prison to await his release ten days from now. He had been kept until now in the prison at Pesceara, on the Adriatic Coast east of Rome.

Still unresolved is a Brooklyn, N.Y., grand jury indictment for hijacking, a federal crime in the United States that provides a maximum penalty of death. Italian judicial authorities say that no request for extradition to the United States has arrived.

Prosecution and defense lawyers in the case say Italy would not grant extradition if Minichiello stood any chance of being executed. Italy abolished capital punishment at the end of World War II and is a signatory to a European convention prohibiting extradition of persons who might face death if tried in another country.

Minichiello, a native of Melito Irpino, near Naples, but a naturalized U.S. citizen, made no comment on his plans upon release. In the past, however, he has told his lawyers he wants to settle in Italy.

The Vietnam war veteran was convicted on Nov. 11, 1970, of eight counts in connection with the hijacking.

"The Soviet government stated it could not agree to our suggestion," the spokesman said. "We are circulating the letter today to the representatives in London of the member governments of the conference."

"They are not looking into the peace movement," he said, predicting that "in due time" they will return a superseding indictment.

Mr. O'Dwyer retorted: "You may not hide your head in the sand and suggest that what is going on here does not have anything to do with our outrageous involvement in South Vietnam. To say the prosecution is in favor of peace is to make a contradiction on behalf of our government. It is totally inappropriate and untrue."

Judge Herman interjected, "I don't think there is anyone in this room who doesn't want peace—certainly as far as the court is concerned. We all want peace."

But for the first time the issue that may well dominate the trial had been raised in court. The defense contention is that the government is using the grand jury as a dragnet to pull in peace movement activists in hopes it can develop a case of some kind against the defendants and try to save face over an indictment the defense claims is baseless.

The government's persistence in pressing the investigation more than three months after the return of the indictment also has caused concern within the Justice Department. It is a highly unusual procedure.

Guy L. Goodwin, who directed the grand jury investigation prior to the indictment and for two months afterwards, was replaced as chief prosecutor by Mr. Lynch. Mr. Goodwin has been criticized within the department for his handling of the case.

Tass Breaks Soviet Silence Over Satellite

Brezhnev Hails Salyut At Bulgarian Congress

MOSCOW, April 21 (WP)—Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev described the Salyut (Salute) orbital station today as "not only a new stride in the exploration and conquest of outer space but also an important stage in a further advance in this field which is important for all mankind."

The Russian news agency Tass quoted this remark from a long speech Mr. Brezhnev gave at the tenth congress of the Bulgarian Communist party in Sofia.

Except for this quote, the Soviet news media have maintained silence over the satellite since its launching on Monday.

Soviet journalists have suggested that the unmanned Salyut will be part of a space spectacular involving one or two manned craft.

Scientific Plausibility
Western observers have inferred that this will be either practice for a permanent orbital laboratory or the first orbital lab itself. Scientific plausibility suggests the former. Mr. Brezhnev's remark could be interpreted either way.

The Russians do not give detailed space programs in advance, nor do they say much about failures. The lapse of 48 hours without news of Salyut could simply mean the satellite is being put through rigorous tests before men are sent up to it. Or the lapse could mean that a manned launch has already been tried and aborted.

If a failure had occurred, however, Mr. Brezhnev presumably would have been informed in time to take the reference to Salyut out of his speech.

According to the West German observatory at Bochum, the optimum time for a manned launch will be 3 a.m. Moscow time tomorrow.

Britain Condemns Hanoi Violation of Laotian Neutrality

LONDON, April 21 (AP)—The British government today deplored what it called "repeated, flagrant violations of Laotian neutrality" and named North Vietnam as chiefly responsible.

The statement came at a Foreign Office news conference announcing that Britain was circulating a letter from the Laotian prime minister, Prince Savanna Phouma, urging Britain to act to remove a Communist military threat from Laos.

The letter was sent March 24 to the British government in its capacity as co-chairman of the 1962 Geneva conference on Indochina. The conference set up a peace-keeping machinery for Indochina which involved neutrality for Laos. The Soviet Union is the other co-chairman.

A spokesman said that on April 7 the British proposed to Russia that the letter should be circulated to all the conference members.

"The Soviet government stated it could not agree to our suggestion," the spokesman said. "We are circulating the letter today to the representatives in London of the member governments of the conference."

"They are not looking into the peace movement," he said, predicting that "in due time" they will return a superseding indictment.

Acceptance Is Expected Lon Nol Gets New Mandate To Head Cambodian Regime

By Henry Kamm
PHNOM PENH, April 21 (NYT)—Gen. Lon Nol received a new mandate today to form a government following his resignation as premier yesterday for reasons of health.

The action came amid strong indications that a powerful group of colonels, headed by the general's brother, Lt. Col. Lon Non, would have opposed any other solution to the crisis.

Gen. Lon Nol has not yet accepted the new mandate from the chief of state, Cheng Heng, but his acceptance is considered a foregone conclusion.

Col. Lon Non said in an interview tonight that he hoped that only one member of the old government would be retained in the new cabinet. He is Lt. Gen. Siow-wath Sirik Matak, Gen. Lon Nol's friend and deputy premier.

Informed sources assume that the colonels, some of whom took part in the interview, would have preferred the removal of Gen. Sirik Matak as well, but knew

It was presaged this morning when both houses of parliament, in special session, unanimously nominated Lon Nol a marshal—Cambodia's first—and conferred on him the formal title of national hero. At the same session, one of the general's possible rivals for the premiership took himself out of the race.

He is Brig. Gen. in Tam, the dynamic and ambitious president of the National Assembly. He said he was fully occupied as governor of the beleaguered province of Kompong Cham.

The crisis, considering even before Gen. Lon Nol suffered a stroke last February and was taken to Hawaii for treatment, had its origin in the dissatisfaction of the colonels, many students and educated persons over the deteriorating economic situation, the slowness of the administration in adapting itself to wartime needs, the inefficiency, corruption and profligating.

Since Gen. Sirik Matak is responsible for the civil half of government activities, under Gen. Lon Nol's overall supervision, much of the criticism has been directed at him. However, it was learned from authoritative sources that Gen. Lon Nol decided to take all responsibility for himself and, after discussion with Gen. Sirik Matak only, presented his government's resignation yesterday.

The colonels, according to these sources, not only admire Gen. Lon Nol but are unwilling to accept any other leader.

At this time it remains uncertain whether the premier stepped down merely to gain a free hand to drastically reshuffle his cabinet or whether he was inclined to retire to a ceremonial position.

Although Co. Lon Non and his associates insist that they want Gen. Sirik Matak to remain as No. 2 man in the government, his position appears already to have suffered a setback. Today's renomination of Gen. Lon Nol, as well as his unprecedented nomination as marshal, implicitly relegate Gen. Sirik Matak to a lower sphere.

Battalion-Size U.S. Teams Probe Foe in A Shan Valley

SAIGON, April 21 (UPI)—Battalion-size American reconnaissance teams and smaller South Vietnamese units probed the A Shan Valley under umbrellas of fighter-bombers today.

Heavy North Vietnamese resistance was reported for the first time since the allied scouting missions began in the valley more than a week ago in preparation for a forthcoming allied campaign in the Laotian border area.

American B-52 bombers hammered an area 20 miles northwest of the A Shan Valley.

An allied unit carried out extensive reconnaissance missions preparatory to the drive in the 35-mile-long valley, Brig. Gen. Yu Van Gial, deputy commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division, said the A Shan was "not an exclusive target."

"In this operation, we will go anywhere from the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) on down to the A Shan," he said. The area Gen. Gial mentioned takes in a 75-mile strip along the Laotian border.

Gen. Gial said the idea of the operation is to force elements of three North Vietnamese divisions and four independent regiments out of South Vietnam's northern provinces, Quang Tri and Thua Thien.

"The operation is designed to clear out everything from the DMZ to the A Shan," Gen. Gial said. He said the coastal mountain pass eight miles north of Da Nang.

Gen. Gial said the North Vietnamese have brought in 37 and 23-mm anti-aircraft guns which will pose a high level of danger for U.S. helicopter pilots.

Cambodian Fighting
SAIGON, April 21 (Reuters)—North Vietnamese troops attacked an airfield near the Cambodian border early this morning, killing five South Vietnamese soldiers defending the base, the South Vietnamese military command announced today.

A spokesman said the Communists were driven off before they could blow up airfield installations.

The spokesman said 13 North Vietnamese died in the attack.

Other Battles
In Cambodia, South Vietnamese troops reported killing 24 North Vietnamese in a battle yesterday 11 miles southeast of Neak Leung.

The South Vietnamese, supported by U.S. artillery and air strikes, said they suffered no casualties.

In another action South Vietnamese infantry ambushed a North Vietnamese platoon ten miles southwest of Kampong Cham on Highway 94 and reported killing six. Government casualties were put at one killed and one wounded.

A Cambodian government force of 10,000, trying to reopen the road from Pimam Penh to the country's only deep-water port of Kompong Som, were bogged down today in their advance against Communist troops perched in the Pleh Nui mountain pass about 65 miles southwest of the capital.

The road was reopened last January, after two weeks' closure, with the help of a big South Vietnamese force and heavy air support, but the North Vietnamese later blocked it again.

24 Civilians Killed
The Saigon high command said 24 civilians were killed and 40 wounded in two terrorist explosions in South Vietnam yesterday.

Fourteen were killed and two wounded when a three-wheeled passenger van was blown up by a mine six miles east of Phu Cat, in coastal Binh Dinh Province.

Ten civilians were killed and four wounded when a similar van

Russia Object to U.S. Efforts
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 21 (UPI)—The Soviet Union voiced strong objection yesterday to any U.S. role in efforts to reach Arab-Israeli agreement for reopening the Suez Canal.

But U.S. Ambassador George Bush declared at a closed meeting of the envoys of the Big Four powers that Washington was acting only at the request of Israel and Egypt for assistance in reaching a Suez agreement.

Mr. Bush clashed with Soviet Ambassador Yakov A. Malik at the 66th meeting of the envoys of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France, held at the American Embassy residence in the Waldorf Towers.

McCloskey Dump-Nixon Bid Shunned by GOP Governors

6 Democrats To Reply to Nixon Talk

By William Chapman

WASHINGTON, April 21 (WP)—Six Democratic senators who are in varying stages of seeking the party's presidential nomination will share a half-hour of television time tomorrow night for a reply to President Nixon's April 7 speech on Vietnam.

Each will have four minutes of air time granted by the American Broadcasting Co. at the highest of Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien.

The others are: Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, of Minnesota, the former vice-president, who is the only one to have served in the White House; Sen. George S. McGovern, of South Dakota, the only announced presidential candidate, who will address his appeal for a withdrawal date; Sen. Birch Bayh, of Indiana, who will talk about the costs of continuing the war; Sen. Harold H. Hughes, of Iowa, who is the national committee chairman, will return the national policy; Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, of Maine, who will stress negotiations as the only way to secure the release of U.S. prisoners of war.

Mr. O'Brien will speak briefly about the beginning and the end of the program. Each senator's four-minute speech was taped separately.

however, that a little competition in the Republican party might be a healthy thing.

In December, 1967, at a similar meeting in Palm Beach, Fla., the GOP governors threw cold water on suggestions from backers of George Romney, then governor of Michigan, that the moderates among them get together behind Mr. Romney to slow Mr. Nixon's accelerating drive for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

The reaction instead helped accelerate Mr. Romney's bid, and two months later he withdrew from the race in advance of the New Hampshire primary.

Rep. McCloskey, of course, may be less dependent on support from the governors than Mr. Romney was. But the total absence of sympathy for his effort from those polled suggests the scope of the task he will set for himself within his party if he does challenge the President.

About the most positive reaction to Rep. McCloskey's plan came from Gov. Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts, among the most liberal, anti-war governors in the group, who said it is "much too early" to evaluate its impact.

Gov. Sargent said of the representative's plan, "We're not paying all that much attention to it in Massachusetts."

Court Ruling Seen Forcing Increased School Integration

Especially in the South

By John Herbers

WASHINGTON, April 21 (NYT)—The decision yesterday by the Supreme Court upholding the constitutionality of busing to achieve school desegregation means that most Southern cities will have to increase classroom integration greatly, in the opinion of lawyers who have sought abolition of the dual system.

They said it also could have a lesser, but important, impact on school integration efforts in cities outside the South and should result in the executive branch taking a stronger desegregation stance.

Senate Rejects Bid to Force City Area School Integration

By Spencer Rich

WASHINGTON, April 21 (WP)—A plan to force white suburbs to integrate, their schools with their inner-city counterparts all over the country within ten years was killed by the Senate by a 51-23 vote today.

The proposal was opposed by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and by some civil rights leaders such as Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R., N.Y., and Clarence Mitchell, legislative director of the NAACP.

Minority List 2 Experts Oppose Safeguard Loses Election In Favor of Cheaper ABM In Oakland

By Michael Getler

WASHINGTON, April 21 (WP)—Critics of the Pentagon's $8-billion Safeguard anti-ballistic missile project yesterday challenged administration policy on arms limitation talks with the Russians and also claimed that the United States could safely switch to a cheaper, more effective ABM if such a defense proved necessary.

Testifying before the Senate Armed Services Committee, the Pentagon's former top scientist, Dr. Herbert F. York, said he believed "most of the hardliners would prefer not to abandon Safeguard" in favor of the less costly alternative, "but find it politically difficult to do so."

The alternative ABM system is known as "Hardtack defense." It is tailored specifically to defend U.S. Minuteman ICBM silos against attack by incoming enemy missiles.

"Hardtack" would use many small, cheap radars, making it difficult for an enemy to knock them all out, plus hundreds of short-range interceptor missiles similar to the Sprint used in Safeguard.

The Safeguard system, originally designed to protect cities but now assigned the primary job of protecting Minuteman missiles on one big and very expensive radar at each Minuteman base and uses both long and short-range interceptors. In the Pentagon's view, Hardtack is a potential supplement to Safeguard. It would be added to the original Safeguard deployment if the Soviet missile buildup continued unabated into the mid-1970s and multiple-warheads were added to the Soviet ICBMs.

Defense officials say that Hardtack, which is still in the research phase, could not be ready before 1977 or 1978 at the earliest, some three years later than Safeguard, and that it would be too risky to have no ABM at all in those years.

That view, however, was strongly challenged yesterday by both Dr. York and another long-time Safeguard critic, Dr. Wolfgang Panofsky, director of Stanford University's Linear Accelerator Center.

Dr. Panofsky stressed the damage that Russian leaders would have to face from remaining U.S. bombers and Polaris-carrying submarines.

Both scientists argued that there was nothing remotely in sight that could assure knocking out of U.S. Polaris submarines.

The scientists maintained that the best solution would be an agreement at the strategic arms limitation talks to ban or limit rival ABM systems. Without an ABM on either side, they contended the Soviets and Americans would both be devastated by even a small number of surviving nuclear weapons, since there would be no defense; therefore, deterrence would be assured.

The Nixon administration, however, has taken the position that any agreement must include limitations on offensive arms as well. The Russians have expressed interest in limiting only ABMs.

U.S. and Canada Join In Satellite Project

OTTAWA, April 21 (AP)—Canada embarked yesterday on the United States yesterday on a $45-million satellite experiment that officials here hope will save money and improve communications throughout Canada.

The aim of the experimental satellite, to cost Canada $27 million and to be put into orbit aboard a U.S. rocket in 1974, is to test ways to cut the high cost of ground stations, putting reception from a satellite within financial reach of small, isolated communities scattered across Canada's huge geographical area.

High Court Rules Objections To Draft Must Precede Call

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that a conscientious objector to the draft must declare his objection before he receives his induction notice.

In a 6-to-3 decision, the court held that the government's contention that a conscientious objector status must become a serious problem of draft boards.

The majority said it was all right for draft boards to refuse to open a registrant's classification until after notice of induction had been sent if the inductee as a chance to press his conscientious-objector claim after he receives the notice.

A regulation explicitly providing that no conscientious-objector claim could be considered by a local board unless filed before a mailing of an induction notice would, we think, be perfectly valid, provided that no inductee could be ordered to combat training or service before a complete and proper in-service determination of his claim.

Justice Potter Stewart wrote for the majority.

"The system needs and has the power to make a reasonable time for the presentation of claims to exemption from service," the court said.

Justice Stewart said that if there were no such limits the board could not require registrants to lodge such claims prior to induction notice even if the objector's views were held long before.

In a barbed dissent, Justice William O. Douglas called the majority view "rather stuffy judicial notion," and cited the biblical experience of Saul of Tarsus on the road to Damascus as an example of sudden conversion.

Calif. Aide Quits, Decries Detention Of Angela Davis

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Alan Bruce resigned yesterday as Marin County administrator and decried the detention of Angela Davis.

Mr. Bruce, 48, in resigning July 1 after 11 years in office, said: "I must say I am happy to remove myself from an establishment of which the judicial branch has not yet found a way to release Angela Davis on bail."

"What more obvious step could there be to lay the groundwork for a fair trial, and incidentally permit some relaxation of onerous and costly security measures?"

Miss Davis, black militant charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in the escape attempt which took four lives, is held under close security in the county jail pending hearings on her application for bail.

Percentage Formula His amendment would require all schools in a standard metropolitan area to have a percentage of minority group students no smaller than half the percentage of the minority in the overall population.

The fight against the Ribicoff amendment was led by Sen. Javits, who said he did not necessarily oppose the broad concept but felt that adoption of the Ribicoff amendment, as part of a bill granting $1.5 billion to help school districts improve their integration levels, was unwise.

For one thing, the New York Republican said, it could well bring defeat of the bill itself, since many senators are reluctant to support such a broad new approach without substantial study in committee.

Turn It Off Not On, Electric Power Firm Urges New Yorkers

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—The Consolidated Edison Co. has decided to continue its advertising to urge customers to conserve electricity rather than use more of it.

Mr. Luce said the utility's sales promotion department had been disbanded and described it as the first such step taken by a power company in the nation.

The company was forced to make power outbacks several times last summer as air conditioners were consuming too much power.

A CEn Ed spokesman said it had not been determined how much money the company would spend promoting less use of electricity, but pointed out that the utility spent over $1 million last year on advertising.

The company serves New York City and suburban Westchester County.

Mirage Case Decisions Set for Friday

Judges Considering Verdicts in Swiss Espionage Trial

LAUSANNE, April 21 (Reuters).—The five judges of the Swiss Federal Tribunal retired today to consider the verdicts in the Mirage blueprints secrets case. Swiss jet-engine expert Alfred Fraenknecht has admitted selling to Israeli agents some 200,000 secret documents enabling Israel to manufacture engines for Mirage jets.

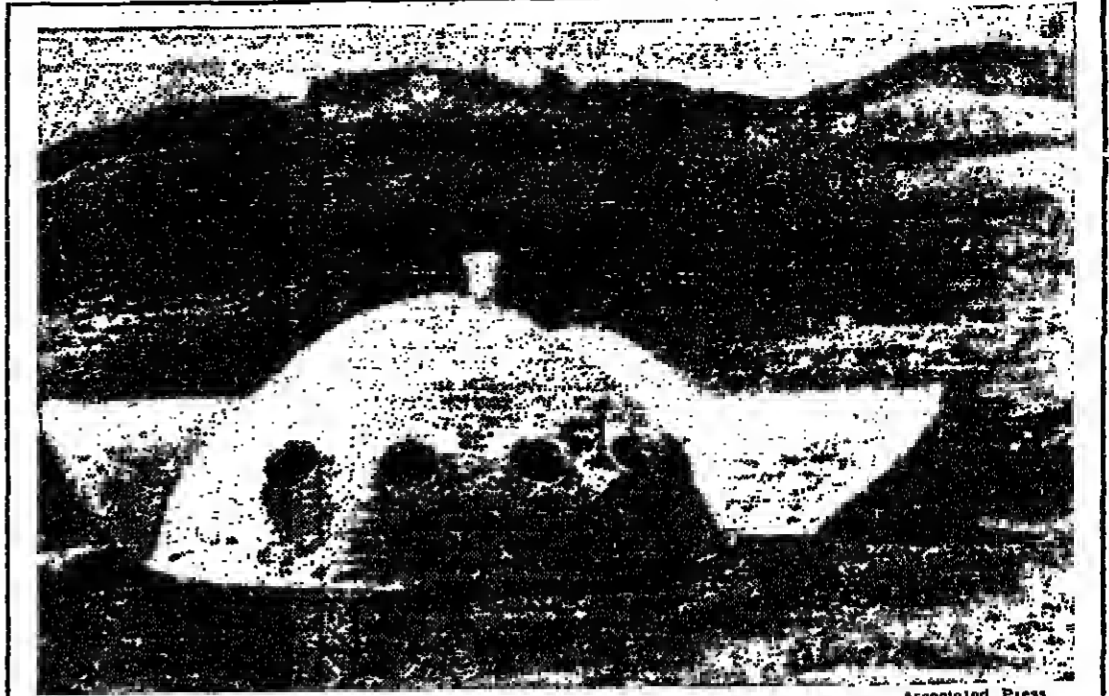

Mr. Fraenknecht's cousin Josef, 38-year-old chauffeur, is charged with complicity. The hearing lasted three days. Court President Paul Reichlin said the verdicts would be announced on Friday morning. Final statement: Alfred Fraenknecht, 44, said in a final statement that he was sorry if he committed a breach of Swiss law. He said he passed on the blueprints because of sympathy for Israel in 1967 following a French arms sale embargo.

Kidnapper Demands to Flee to France

Swiss Holds Woman, Threatens Explosion

ZURICH, April 21 (Reuters).—A Swiss sauna-bath owner holding an Austrian woman diplomat hostage in his flat here today demanded asylum in France as the price for freeing her. Otherwise, he said, he would blow up the building, which also houses the Austrian Consulate. Ferdinand Mueller, 48, seized Dr. Louisa Kneissl, a 38-year-old spinster who heads the Austrian Social Service Bureau here, more than 36 hours ago.

His demand today for asylum in France for himself and his two children was a sudden change of heart. Previously he had been asking for five million francs ($1,200,000) in ransom from local authorities. 66 Pounds of Explosives: Mr. Mueller also said in a letter to the Zurich cantonal government yesterday that he had 66 pounds of explosives, 100 gallons of gasoline and a loaded rifle with him in the sandbagged flat.

A HOME IS NOT NECESSARILY A HOUSE—Take for example this plastic thing of Ron Kessinger in Golden, Colorado. It has 1,600 square feet of living space including a kitchen, living-dining area, two bedrooms, a bath and a utility room. He made it by spraying a five-inch layer of foam onto inflated balloons and then deflating them after the foam set. The whatchamacallit cost him $23,000.

Censure Test Easily Won By Chaban

PARIS, April 21 (AP).—The first censure vote brought against a French government since 1968 received only 95 votes today, far short of the 344 needed to topple the government. The deputies voted on a Socialist censure motion following Prime Minister Jacques Chaban-Delmas' statement of government policy yesterday. Under the censure procedure, only votes in favor of censure are counted.

FASHION

Ready-Made 'Couture' Clothes

By Eugenia Sheppard
PARIS, April 21.—Paris couture means sitting solemnly through a two-hour fashion show and having to say it's lovely.

Paris ready-to-wear means rushing here and there and not having to say much of anything. Though most of the top names in the Paris couture are designing at least one and sometimes two or three ready-to-wear collections each season, too, they don't take ready-to-wear as seriously. None of them turned up in person and there were no kisses or champagne drinks at their openings held this week along with the less pedigreed ready-to-wear.

Higher priced than any of the 20,000 fashions at the Porte de Versailles, the designer collections crack that old myth about couture being the laboratory where new fashion is born.

It's true that Pierre Cardin, who doesn't mind spending money, experiments in his made-to-order clothes, picks out the 30 least experimental from 300 and turns them into ready-to-wear bot, with most designers, the two collections have become equally creative.

Ungaro defines the difference between made-to-order and ready-made this way: "I often use the same shapes and fabrics in both my collections. What makes women buy couture is not the clothes but the attention they get."

Pampering
A woman accustomed to made-to-order clothes is never happy shopping in a boutique, he goes on to say. She'll buy a few things there, but she'll always come back to couture. "Many of our made-to-order customers fill in with our boutique things, but we give them the same kind of pampering."

Bearing out the rush of customers back to couture in Paris, Givenchy can hardly keep up with orders. Cardin is still showing his January collection to a crowd every day. Ungaro has just finished wardrobe for both Dilly and Eline Goulardis and the Baronne Guy de Rothschild. Shown at manufacturer Didier Gumbach's downtown place a few days ago, Givenchy's new boutique collection is a large one and, except in price, closer than ever to couture. The two others have sold out the minute they reached American stores and this one should have an even longer waiting list.

Furrochy, who has always liked sportswear, goes in for an even younger, sportier look. He believes women will still want pants suits and he makes the pants in a stretch version of the same fabric. He shows lots of jersey dresses, many of them bi-color, turtle-neck sweaters, suedes and good-looking rain clothes.

It was Givenchy who started the cape coat that all the other designers have gone on with this season. Givenchy's own version is made of suede.

Givenchy does amusing things with Borg fake fur fabrics. He clips some of them and appliques others with leather.

His evening clothes have that demure Jane Austen look that the ladies love. Most of them are long sleeved and cover-up and he still uses the little ruffle.

In case anybody cares who is doing what about the length of skirts, Givenchy's are still about two inches below the knees.

In his boutique collection for Dior, though, Marc Bohan's skirts just clear the knees but show them completely. In his dresses, he goes back to a shape he has always liked, a top that is slightly bloused over a swingy bias skirt.

Bohan's fabrics are the softest he has ever used, cut velvets, mat jersey and chiffon. His Chinese evening dress, good for traveling, is a robe that ties down one side, as far as you like it and is worn with a sheer shirt.

Bohan believes in the pants suit. His pants are straight and full, and the jackets double breasted with shoulder-wide, pointed lapels.

Younger, less expensive and designed by Philippe Gibeau, the Miss Dior collection will make

OPERA

Too Much of a Good Thing—in England

By Henry Pleasants

LONDON, April 21.—About all that even the most dedicated opera buff could tell you about "Tancredi" is that it was first performed in Venice in 1813, that it was Rossini's first international success, and that the score includes the song "I tanti palpit". And more of them can name the song than can sing it.

Listening to "I tanti palpit" in the Camden festival revival of "Tancredi" by the Basilio Opera Company at the Collette Theatre last night, one wondered what there was about it that sent it to the top of the charts and kept it there, not for weeks or months, but for years.

It's not all that wonderful a song. But taste in songs is notoriously ephemeral, and this would apply to the entire opera, too. The thing to remember of course is that those whose enthusiasm established the success of "Tancredi" had never heard "The Barber of Seville," "Semiramide" or "William Tell." What they heard was an opera seria which Rossini, at the age of 21, had dared to brighten with some of the rhythmic buoyancy and characteristic instrumentation of opera buffa.

The Italian poet and critic, Giuseppe Carpani, a contemporary admirer of Rossini, when asked about the distinguishing characteristics of "Tancredi," said: "There is cantilena and always cantilena and beautiful cantilena and new cantilena and magic cantilena and rare cantilena." Which shows that Carpani was a good critic as well as a good poet.

So much cantilena can be rather too much of a good thing. It all depends upon what the singers do with it. The English singers at the Collette Theatre—principally Maureen Lehane in the mezzo-soprano transverse title role, and Maureen Morelle, as Tancredi's beloved—did remarkably well, about as well, indeed, as can be expected from non-Italians.

This is another way of saying that both their singing and their deportment were too decorous. "Tancredi," as theater, particularly for a 20th-century Anglo-Saxon audience, is pretty ridiculous. And the ridiculous, in the theater, can be salvaged only by utter conviction. There has to be grandiloquence, flamboyance and elegance, and the players have to believe in what they're doing—or make you think they do.

British actors, in the theater are very good at this. They can strut and gesticulate and strike attitudes with the best of their Continental counterparts. But little of this capacity for identification with bygone theater styles has rubbed off on their operatic brothers and sisters, who always seem to be afraid of making a spectacle of themselves.

And so in ridiculous situations, they appear, well—a bit ridiculous. What British opera needs, for these older operas, is an Olivier. Ham, with class!

Scott's Oscar Goes Back to Store Room

HOLLYWOOD, April 21 (Reuters).—The unwarmed Oscar—won by George C. Scott for his performance in "Patton"—has been returned to stock at the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

An academy spokesman said that the statuette was being used for photographic and other purposes. The award was accepted for Mr. Scott last week by "Patton" producer Frank McCarthy, who brought it back to the academy.

Beauty Begins at Breakfast

By Hebe Dorsey

PARIS, April 21.—"A woman can wear last year's dress but she cannot wear last year's face," Estée Lauder says.

"Fashion in faces is changing ever faster," the cosmetics queen added.

In Paris to attend the ready-to-wear showings ("Yes, for the first time," Mrs. Lauder said, "I came because I think that couture is slowly fading away. I think ready-to-wear will take over with a big bang and I want to be the first one on the spot.")

Mrs. Lauder, who keeps an acute eye on fashion, always followed the couture collections "because fashion and faces go together—a fact too many women ignore."

Fashion trends mean a lot in the world of cosmetics, according to Mrs. Lauder. "For instance," she said, "last year we had folklore, costume. The makeup followed. It was a no-makeup makeup. No powder, pale lipstick and those big, black smouldering eyes. When a girl entered a room, her eyes preceded her entrance."

'60s Look

"Now, the forties look is making a terrific impact. It has brought back darker lipstick, lighter eyebrows—almost no eyebrows to make the eyes look larger. The forties look in cosmetics also means dark nail polish which had been out so long."

Even hemlines can make a difference. "The drop in hemlines brought the face back," she said. "That's obvious. As a woman's legs became less important, her face came into sharper focus."

Mrs. Lauder also keeps track of the seasons with her cosmetics.

Estée Lauder

inevitably mean a return to a civilized, cared-for, ladylike look in cosmetics," she said.

Grand Ways

Mrs. Lauder is pretty civilized herself. She has her own, grand way of doing things and whether it is a trip to the Porte de Versailles ready-to-wear salon (in a chauffeured limousine) or a dinner at Maxim's (the best table, always), she goes at it with style and with her hat on.

A good-looking woman, with skin that seems molded in alabaster and the profile of a movie star, Mrs. Lauder is her own best advertisement. But behind the beautiful facade, there is tremendous drive, intuition, enthusiasm and a zest for life which makes her carry on her social activities with as much gusto as her business ventures.

Her customers are often her friends. The Duchess of Windsor and the Begum Aga Khan are frequent guests at the Lauder's New York and Palm Beach homes. She always spends the summer on the French Riviera, where she is one of the active wheels in the busy social whirl.

Mrs. Lauder can talk for hours on end about the flowery world of cosmetics, Aurora Red Lipsticks, Toasted Walnut crayons, Fresh Air moisturizing creams, Apricot Chiffon eye shadows—but she can also be refreshingly down to earth.

"Beauty," she said "begins with a good base—but also with a good breakfast."

"I change lines about two or three times a year," she said. "I feel that a person who has been wearing dark winter clothes needs a new makeup in the spring. You wouldn't wear dark heavy shoes in the spring, now, would you? Makeup must follow the same light effect. Gone are the days when a woman had one lipstick and one jar of powder that lasted her three or four years. Now the young girls are changing constantly and the older ones want to know what's new."

For older women, who may find the forties makeup too strident, Mrs. Lauder goes back to the civilized look that is cropping up in all the higher-priced collections.

"The civilized clothes will include the forties look in cosmetics also means dark nail polish which had been out so long."

Even hemlines can make a difference. "The drop in hemlines brought the face back," she said. "That's obvious. As a woman's legs became less important, her face came into sharper focus."

Mrs. Lauder also keeps track of the seasons with her cosmetics.

Arts Agenda

The Julius Katchen Foundation has established a scholarship fund in memory of the American pianist who died in Paris in 1969 at the age of 42. The fund's income is intended to provide travel, living and tuition expenses to enable young musicians from abroad to study at a leading U.S. conservatory for a year. Thus expressing appreciation for the fellowship the pianist received to launch his career in the late 1940s in Paris, where he continued to live. About half of the fund's goal of $50,000 has been collected and the foundation (Box 87, Long Branch, N.J.) is selecting committees of artists and businessmen to select scholarship recipients and administer the fund.

The Boston Symphony Chamber Orchestra opens the spring concert series at Royaumont Abbey, north of Paris near Chantilly, on May 1. On successive Saturdays the concerts will be by the Toulouse Chamber Orchestra under Louis Auriaucombe, the Ensemble Baroque de Paris, the chamber orchestra of the Orchestre de Paris, and the Ensemble Polyphonique of the ORTF. All concerts are at 5 p.m., with second concerts at 8:30 p.m. being scheduled by the Toulouse ensemble on May 8 and the Orchestre de Paris group on May 22.

"An absolute necessity in Japan..."

Last year I went to Tokyo and a very useful service Air France provided was to do my visiting card in Japanese, an absolute necessity in a country like that where it is always the custom to hand over a visiting card.

Food and service? I think it's superb. Air France have always had a reputation for good food, and they live up to it. I went over the Pole with Air France 2 or 3 years ago and that was extremely relaxing..."

British Steel to Close 10 Units, Dismiss 7,255

LONDON, April 21 (AP-DJ)—The state-owned British Steel Corp. (BSC) announced today it would close ten plants and lay off 7,255 employees between mid-1971 and end-1973.

The closures are part of a long-term reorganizing program and have no direct connection with the world steel demand or the British government's recent plan of BSC's proposed 14 percent price increases, Lord Sargent, chairman, said.

The closures are estimated to cost about 7 million tons from the annual output of 25 million tons. But they will not impact the annual investment program of $180 million ($432 million), Lord Melchett said.

Over 30,000 Dismissals Including the dismissals of 7,255 employees in the past two years, BSC will have dismissed 30,000 since it was formed in 1967.

The main impact will be felt at the Iron works, near Manchester, where a two-stage phasing-out will affect 4,333 jobs.

The closures will involve phasing out older and less economic plants and transferring production to more modern plants, Lord Melchett said.

BSC also announced the start of a two-year, $7 million industrial development program, which should provide up to 4,000 new jobs. It said the project would be carried out by John Philip Ltd., an industrial development company in which BSC has a 13 percent interest.

Blow to Conservatives Today's announcement was a further blow to the economic policies of the Conservative government, following Monday's disclosure of the highest April unemployment figures since World War II.

BSC's problems stem from the loss of nationalization, when it was a sprawling mass of companies.

Italian Sees Gloomy 1971 For Economy

ROME, April 21 (Reuters)—Prospects for the Italian economy are far from encouraging, Renato Lombardi, president of the Italian manufacturers' association, Confindustria, told the annual assembly here today.

Many of Italy's small and medium-sized firms are stretched to the breaking point, while continuing political uncertainty and labor unrest threaten the implementation of socially necessary reforms, he added.

Mr. Lombardi said the danger of a recession could be avoided by higher investment, which would increase employment. However, this required the creation of a more stable political and economic climate, he added.

Searing Labor Costs The Confindustria annual report said the textile, construction and paper industries are in a crisis situation, while the chemical and steel industries are in difficulties. Productivity rose very slowly last year, while labor costs soared.

Quoting Confindustria figures, AP-Dow Jones reported that average daily wages last year rose to 4,288.9 lire ($6.86), up 20.6 percent from 1969 and 29.5 percent from 1968. Other labor costs, including pension and social security payments, came to 2,035 lire ($3.26), up 14.9 percent from the year before and 23.4 percent from 1968.

As a result, profits and investment were reduced, even though growing liquidity could have permitted higher investment. This had been postponed because of political, labor and economic uncertainties.

Commenting on the report, Industry Minister Silvio Gava cited lower investment as the principal current problem, particularly since Italy's major trading partners are rapidly increasing their own investment.

In an address to the Confindustria meeting, Mr. Gava said his ministry is studying a reform of the Italian registered share system. He said the reform would place in the general context of moves by the Common Market countries to harmonize laws governing capital markets.

Mobil Oil Profits Up 12.5 Percent

NEW YORK, April 21—Mobil Oil Corp. estimated today that first-quarter profits rose 12.5 percent while revenues rose 14.6 percent.

First Quarter 1971 1970 Revenue (millions) 2,289.0 1,990.0 Profits (millions) 132.5 117.8 Per Share 1.31 1.16

The company attributed the earnings increase to higher operating volumes and a favorable position in foreign marine tanker coverage.

It estimated that crude oil and natural liquid gas production, plus supplies received under long-term arrangements, averaged 2.28 million barrels a day, up 7.4 percent from the year-ago total. Petroleum products sales rose 6 percent from the year-ago total. Per-

Nevertheless, the profits earned in the first quarter—the first since the April-June period of 1969—were enough to keep the half-year figures in the black.

AMC officials had earlier warned that the latest quarter's results would be affected by the fact that the company's production was interrupted by parts shortages and that sales in general were slow.

Chairman Roy E. Chapin said today that he expects the fiscal year to be a profitable one for AMC.

NEW YORK, April 21 (NYT)—Kennecott Copper, the leading U.S. producer of primary copper, announced yesterday that earnings in the first quarter plunged 40.1 percent compared with those of the 1970 period.

Foreign owned copper properties in Chile, where government actions are under way to nationalize foreign owned copper properties.

Revenue shipped 10.5 percent to $284.5 million from $285.5 million a year ago.

While tonnage shipments have risen recently, foreign and domestic primary-copper prices, as well as profit margins on fabricating operations, have been lower than in early 1970.

In addition, dividends from El Teniente, the Chilean property in which Kennecott holds a 46 percent interest, were $9.4 million, or 28 cents a share, in the first quarter of last year.

U.S. Prices Increased at February Rate

WASHINGTON, April 21—The consumer price index rose 0.3 percent in March following a like advance in February, the Labor Department reported today.

The unadjusted rise was 0.3 percent, up from 0.2 percent in February, bringing the all-items cost-of-living index to 119.8 of the 1967-base index.

The seasonally adjusted price index climbed 0.7 percent in March from a seasonally adjusted 0.2 percent in February, the Labor Department reported today.

The unadjusted rise was 0.3 percent, up from 0.2 percent in February, bringing the all-items cost-of-living index to 119.8 of the 1967-base index.

The seasonally adjusted price index climbed 0.7 percent in March from a seasonally adjusted 0.2 percent in February, the Labor Department reported today.

The drop was the first since the 4.5 percent decline in October, when new orders were adversely affected by the General Motors strike.

The largest decline was in transportation equipment, which fell $972 million, following a $727 million rise in February. This was due primarily to declines in the shipbuilding, railroad and automotive industries, although these were partially offset by an increase in the aerospace industry.

New orders for machinery rose 619 million after a $16 million decline in February. Primary metals orders dipped $88 million, compared to a $328 million drop in February.

Dollar Peg Unsettled

BONN, April 21 (AP-DJ)—Jean-Luc Pepin, Canada's Minister for Trade, Industry and Commerce, said today his government has not decided when or at what rate to peg the Canadian dollar, which on June 1 was freed of International Monetary Fund rules and left to float upward from its former parity of 92.5 cents.

Belgians Trade Dollars for Gold

BRUSSELS, April 21 (AP-DJ)—Belgium converted $25 million of its foreign-exchange reserves into gold last week, it was learned today.

The transaction with U.S. monetary authorities covered half the $50 million that Belgium received last March from Britain in exchange for 2.5 billion Belgian francs ($50 million) that Britain used to repay an International Monetary Fund debt.

The other half of the $50 million previously was exchanged with the United States for Special Drawing Rights.

Steel Firms in U.S. Rescind Rise on Stainless Products

PITTSBURGH, April 21 (AP-DJ)—An attempt to raise U.S. prices of stainless steel failed yesterday when Universal Cylcops, the specialty steel division of Cyclops Corp., said it is rescinding a decision to raise prices between 5 and 7 1/2 percent.

Later today, Arco-Steel said it too was withdrawing its previously announced plans to increase prices.

Cyclops prices increases had been followed by Arco-Steel and broadened to include sheet and plate, which Cyclops does not make. But other specialty mills failed to join the move.

The Cyclops announcement said "competitive action in the market place" already evident, not only drastically minimized the effect of the increase, but would also serve to create further competitive chaos in an already chaotic market.

Officials at EEC Agree to Renew Pact on Sterling

BRUSSELS, April 21 (AP-DJ)—High EEC monetary officials have agreed to renew the Basel agreement backing sterling for five years without conditions, it was learned today.

It was disclosed that EEC central bank governors first agreed to the renewal at their monthly meeting in Basel in March. That decision was endorsed by the EEC's monetary committee of high officials from the six member states meeting here yesterday, sources said.

The 13-nation Basel agreement provides a $2 billion credit to back official central bank holdings of sterling. It is due to expire in September.

Some observers were surprised by the decision because there had been considerable talk that the agreement would not be renewed without some absolute ceiling on the amount of sterling that would be guaranteed. France has sought to make the reserve role of sterling an issue in EEC entry negotiations with Britain. A meeting of the special EEC committee on sterling today heard British officials explain their government's plans for dealing with the reserve role of sterling.

French Set '72 Target

PARIS, April 21 (Reuters)—French budget proposals for 1972 provide for a 5.7 percent expansion in economic activity. Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing told a cabinet meeting here today. The government spokesman declined to give any details apart from the expected rate of expansion.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

Spain Unveils Offshore Oil Find An oil discovery off Spain contains deposits of 40 million tons, Spanish Industry Minister Lopez de Letona reports. Production tests indicate production of 15,000 barrels a day, or 2.5 million tons a year. Commercial exploitation is to begin in early 1973.

Shell Finds More Oil Off Scotland Shell UK Exploration & Production Ltd., a subsidiary of Royal Dutch Shell, says it has found more oil near a previously announced find 160 miles east of Dundee, Scotland. Though it is too early to make definitive assessments of reserves, the find is being tested at "rates similar to those of the first well," Shell said.

Rank Selling Total Xerox Holding Rank Organisation will sell its entire holding of 328,383 Xerox Corp. common shares. Of the total, 213,049 were acquired by Rank in 1969. In connection with the transfer of voting control to Rank-Xerox to Xerox Corp., The shares are being sold to comply with an undertaking by the Bank of England, Rank said.

RCA, Thomson Plus Joint Firm RCA Corp. and the Thomson group of France said they plan a jointly-owned French company for the production and sale of color television picture tubes. On approval by the French government, production will start in 1971. The Thomson group—made up of Cie. Francaise Thomson-Houston, Hotchkiss-Brandt, Thomson-CSF and their subsidiaries—is expected to own 51 percent of the company, and RCA 49 percent.

Kawasaki Sets Capital Increase Kawasaki Heavy Industries of Japan plans to increase its capital 50 percent to 42 billion yen ($117 million). Shareholders of record June 30 can purchase one new share for each two they hold. Plans are to use most of the funds for construction of a dock to build ships up to 800,000 deadweight tons. This facility, due for completion in November, 1972, is estimated to cost 21 billion yen.

Profit-Taking Weighs Down N.Y. Prices in Quiet Trade

NEW YORK, April 21—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange registered their second straight decline in moderately-active trading today.

A small, late-afternoon rally was not enough to carry the market into plus territory, and all major market averages retreated a bit.

Declines led advances by about 8-to-5.

Dow Drops The Dow Jones industrial average closed at $41.32, down 3.59 from yesterday's level. Volume fell to 11.04 million shares from 17.83 million yesterday.

Analysts said selling had been lighter than expected, considering that many brokerage houses have advised profit-taking.

Drugs Hard Hit One of the session's hardest-hit groups was drug issues. Abbott Laboratories, which reported an earnings decline, lost 5 5/8 to 72 3/4.

Warner-Lambert backed down 1 1/4 to 75 1/2. A government agency said it plans to challenge the company's acquisition of Parke, Davis.

Syntax, on the American Stock Exchange, hucked the trend, and moved ahead 3 3/4 to 87 1/2. The company expects fiscal 1971 earnings to rise.

Glaucor Improves Most glamour issues perked up today after trading lower in recent sessions. Sperry Rand, one of the most actively-traded issues, gained 3 4 to 38 1/4.

Control Data gained 1 1/4 to 64. Dynegy Productions rose 1 7/8 to 109 3/4 and Memorex climbed 1 3/4 to 58 3/4.

Airlines on Upside Also running contrary to the market's downturn were several airline issues. Pan American moved up 5/8 to 18 1/8. Eastern rose 5/8 to 24 3/8. TWA gained 1 7/8 to 26 1/2 and National rose 1/4 to 23 1/4.

Crowell Collier was the most actively-traded issue of the day, gaining 1 1/2 to 14 5/8. Company officials could not account for the gain.

John-Manville lost 5/8 to 43 1/4. The company reported first-quarter profits today. Columbia Broadcasting System

Amex Prices Dip On the American Stock Exchange, prices closed slightly lower in moderately active trading. Among the most actively traded issues, Asamera Oil increased 3/8 to 21 5/8.

Brantiff also actively traded, gained 3/8 to 11 5/8.

The fund, amassed by oilers of the New York Stock Exchange, is designed to be invested in Du Pont for one year, with interest, and to be the most senior obligation of the firm.

Mr. Perot, founder and chairman of Dallas-based Electronic Data Systems Corp., heads a group which is investing $30 million in Du Pont, the country's third largest brokerage firm, which was on the brink of failure late last year. In addition, he has arranged a $20 million line of credit with a group of banks here.

According to Wall Street sources, the total of $30 million is more than sufficient to put Du Pont on a sound financial footing. Harold A. Rousselet, Du Pont managing partner, said last week that the $30 million direct investment would be enough to bring the firm within NYSE financial requirements.

When Mr. Perot entered the Du Pont picture last November, it was thought the firm would need $5 million, but the figure has climbed steadily as Du Pont's tangled affairs were sorted out.

Where in the World can you find a higher yield with less risk than in MODERN MEXICO! "Mexico has enjoyed one of the highest rates of economic growth in the world in recent years", says an authoritative U. S. Department of Commerce Study. Why? Because here's one of the world's most stable currencies. Because qualified experts call Mexico "the standout example of responsible government and business in Latin America" Because there is a controlled economic explosion going on in Mexico... in industry, public works, consumer goods, and international trade... which has created a true "investors market", with a yield which invites comparison anywhere in the world.

Maybe this helps to explain why the international "smart money" men are putting their funds down Mexico way... and why maybe you should, too, for exactly the same good reasons. Here are two offerings among many... BANK TIME DEPOSIT CONTRACTS: Depending upon the length of time involved, these short-term loans to Mexico's Industrial Development Banks yield a net of 9% and up, after Mexican taxes... high enough to make them one of the world's most attractive and safe investments. Interest is payable monthly. Minimum investment: $4,000.00 U. S. dollars, or equivalent in any internationally recognized currency. BANK LIQUID BONDS: These Demand Deposits pay 8.75% net after Mexican taxes, interest payable quarterly; and your money is immediately available whenever you need it. (These Bonds are also ideal for use in compounding interest earned on Bank Time Deposit Contracts). Minimum Investment: $4,000 U. S. dollars, or equivalent in any internationally recognized currency.

Ryun to Compete Against Liquori May 16 in Mile

NEW YORK, April 21 (NYT).—Jim Ryun has agreed to compete against Marty Liquori and possibly Kipkego Keino in the mile run at the International Freedom Games in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on May 16 at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. Ryun's going to run? Bert Lancaster is the meet's promoter, said at the Track Writers luncheon here. "He told me that he wanted to be in the East to run in our meet. He was real happy about his performance on Saturday."

The Scoreboard

TENNIS.—At Houston, Milan Rotich of Czechoslovakia upset four-time defending champion Jimmy Connors and three other players also seeded in the first round of the 37th annual U.S. Open tournament. Seeded Cliff Richey of San Antonio, Texas, was the only seed who won without dropping a set. Steve Turner of New York, 6-1, 6-2, Harold G. Hines and Maria Nasulli of Italy, 3-6, 6-4, in the Columbia International tennis tournament. In the first round of the 1971 U.S. Open, Connors defeated Jimmy Connors, 6-1, 6-2, in another women's singles.

Aaron Homers, Trails Ruth by 116

By Sam Goldsper

NEW YORK, April 21 (NYT).—When Hank Aaron reached his 30th birthday last Friday, baseball prognosticators differed on his chances of surpassing Babe Ruth's record of 714 home runs. Some thought time was running out on Henry Louis Aaron, who started his career in 1953 holding a bat cross-handed. Others thought he would break the Ruth mark and beat Willie Mays to it. Mays, who will be 40 next month, has 633 career homers.

By Sam Goldsper

Babe Ruth's record, Aaron has said, "I think I'll pay a little call on Mr. Uecker." Aaron's homer last night was all Phil Niekro needed to beat the Pirates. Niekro hurled a six-hitter, struck out seven and allowed only two runners to reach third base.

Braves Beat Pirates, 2-0

Cardinals 2, Giants 1. Reliever Moe Drabowsky struck out rookie George Foster and Frank Rhee with the bases loaded in the ninth inning to preserve Reggie Cleveland's first major league victory as St. Louis ended San Francisco's nine-game winning streak, 2-1. Cleveland, who had lost twice this season, went 7 2/3 innings. Juan Marchal suffered his first setback after three victories.

Wednesday's Games

Los Angeles scored six runs in the third inning against San Diego, 6-2. Rickie Allen singled home two of the tallies and another pair scored as Bill Russell beat out an infield roller. The Padres have now lost seven straight.

Softball Finds a Place in the Woods

Paris, April 21.—Jog long enough in the Bois de Boulogne and you'll run into a softball game. But that's going pretty far. This past Saturday, the Franco-American Softball League joined petanque, clay-pigeon shooting and dog-walking in the woods' world of eclectic sport. On every weekend until the beginning of July, some of the Bois de Boulogne's Harry's New York Bar, most of Paris's younger Mormons, American Legion men led by a Canadian pitcher, and the Ford Mets, formerly the Simca Mets, will come together at the Parc de Bagatelle, near the polo grounds, to re-create a touch of the old country. Everyone is welcome to join in.

see it. They expected us to swallow this story." "Comrade Hu Toy. Do you also feel the Americans tried to prevent you from seeing what you wanted to see?"

"Let us begin with Tai Bun, the captain of the gin rummy team. Comrade Bun, what impressed you the most about your visit to the United States?" "The friendliness of the American people. Everywhere we went, people said, 'We may not agree with what your government stands for, but we really like Chinese food.'"

"Comrade Dan Gum. What were your impressions of the visit?" "The thing that impressed me the most was the cult of Nixon we saw everywhere. It is like our cult of Mao Tse-tung, with one major difference. In the People's Republic of China, we give credit to our beloved Chairman Mao for everything good that happens here. In the United States, they blame Nixon for everything bad that happens there."

"Comrade Ro Po Li. What was the highlight of the trip as far as you're concerned?" "I think the highlight of the trip was our private visit with Vice-President Spiro Agnew. He was very friendly and he told us many things about the United States that no one else would talk about."

"He told us that the American press and television networks were full of lies and they slanted the news and look things out of context so the American people never knew the truth. It was exactly what Mao Tse-tung had told us and we were happy to hear it confirmed from the lips of a high American government official. At the end of our interview, Agnew gave us a souvenir golf ball which he said he had personally played with. The ball had a slight dab of blood on it, but our translator refused to tell us why."

More Power To the Paddle

By Eleanor Blair

NEW YORK (NYT).—Now that a ping-pong ball has cracked the bamboo curtain and the game of table tennis has suddenly bounced into the center of international diplomacy, there are people who are saying they knew all along that the game had a lot more punch than the public knew.

Players, suppliers and officials are all basking in the glory, not quite sure what to do about it. "A giant bounce forward for ping-pong," Mayor John V. Lindsay said through a spokesman. "Power to the paddle." The spokesman noted that the mayor was a tennis man himself.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is said to wield a deft paddle, expressed hope that "the cause of peace will be advanced by the encounter at a ping-pong table," and added, "At least there wasn't any debate about the shape of the table."

At Herman's on West 42d Street, Leonard Lipscomb, manager of the sporting goods department, was ready to seize the moment. "Table tennis is a big item," he said. "We do a large business in it."

Mr. Lipscomb added that he would "probably change our display around, show it up when the customer walks in the door so it hits him right where he can see it."

At the Paragon store at 867 Broadway near 18th Street, one of the city's best-known suppliers of equipment, the manager, Alvin Weber, was so busy he could hardly spare a moment. "Look," he said, "I've got nine customers here and newspaper reporters have been calling me all day, asking, 'How's business?'"

"What can I tell you? Business is great." In Detroit, Samuel Veltete of the U.S. Table Tennis Association said he was glad to take the occasion to clear up what he considers major misconceptions about the sport.

"I don't know anything about politics, but this is the one greatest single boost the game has ever received," he said. "The thing the people don't understand is that this is a fantastic compliment to the United States. The Chinese inviting us to play table tennis with them would be like our inviting them to play football with us."

The scope of table tennis is not understood in this country. It's the second largest participation sport in the world in terms of countries involved. "The world table tennis championship draws more countries than any other sports event except the Olympics, and it's held intentionally on the Olympic off-years, so that a country won't have to send teams to both in the same year."

"In this country we have 20 million paddle pushers, but only 5,000 tournament-level players," Mr. Veltete continued. "A tiny country like West Germany has 300,000 registered players on a tournament level."

Attributing the situation here in part to "junky" equipment, he cautioned, "If you want a good paddle, you must pay $7 or $8 for it and you must pay $5 to $6 cent for a good ball." Without such equipment, he said, "there's no game—it's all sham-sham."

Better players generally recoil at the use of the term ping-pong, a trade name devised by Parker Brothers. Yet the term persists, and even at the Riverside Table Tennis Club at 86th and Broadway, one of two popular establishments in which the game is played here, an event billed as "Ping-Pong for Peace" was held last Sunday to raise funds for the Vietnam Peace Parade Committee, Vietnam Veterans Against the War and the Hanoi Defense Committee, which is raising money to pay the legal costs of defending several persons accused of conspiracy to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, the President's assistant for national security affairs.

"I am political," stresses Marty Reisman, twice a national champion and third in world competition in 1949, who owns the Riverside Club. But he donated the use of his establishment and performed some of the stunts for which he is well known: playing blindfolded, or playing in a seated position, or balancing a cigarette on its end and then smashing it in two with a ball served from the other side of the net.

Mr. Reisman's club, in a drab but friendly basement below two theaters, and the New York Table Tennis Club, in a smaller basement in the Riverside Plaza Hotel on 73d Street near Broadway, report a flurry of phone inquiries about the establishments in the wake of the Peking talk. But, it seems, only a few more players than usual have been actually showing up.

Table tennis is popular on a number of college campuses, where the improvement of relations with Peking has been a lively topic of conversation. At Columbia University last week, students crowded into the basement of Ferris Booth Hall to play, watch and muse.

Observing a spirited match, Karl Wong, a junior, predicted an improvement in the status of table tennis here. "Americans were surprised that their team was beaten so handily by a second-string Chinese team," said Mr. Wong. "The U.S. wants to be No. 1 in everything, so people will start practicing ping-pong more seriously."

PEOPLE: Notes From the Far Side

Reprinted in its entirety, the following post-scriptum to American history from John Fiske, of Beirut: "And, of course, you know what Alexander Hamilton said when he designed the silver dollar: 'Well, E Pluribus Unum, to phrase a coin.'"

"Violence and strange grammar seem destined to remain partners in print," writes Carlton W. Thompson, of Sydney, Australia. "We've had frogs bites, riddled yets and damaged podiums. Now we have at least an honorable-mention candidate from the April 5 issue of Time, which reports on Page 12 that the son of Anthony Colombo, a gangster, was strangled with a girlfriend..."

"In Hollywood," writes Al Hix from Los Angeles, "the Academy Award for Best Actor is now known as 'The Dread Scott Decision.'"

"Recipe for Pie-in-the-Sky" from Lou Eisenport, of Rhode: "Three cups cupidity; one cup essence of rainbow; two cups finely granulated trust; three heaping tablespoons opaque illusions. Slowly pour essence of rainbow into mixing bowl and stir quickly while adding 3 cups of cupidity. A frothy copula of opalescent bubbles should crown your bowl within ten seconds. In two minutes bubbles will have disappeared. Then pour contents into pie pan and place in 430-degree oven until crust is firm. Liberally sprinkle crust with trust and brush on illusions. Return to oven for ten minutes until crust has turned walnut brown and taken on a 'bright and blinding' gloss. For 'best' results, serve with a smile and a siletto."

Forer, of Odense, Denmark: "A teacher at Slough Technical High School believes that even clever children of the age of 11-15 are incapable of absorbing more than ten new words a week. He tried his theory on his own pupils and, if nothing else, has updated the dictionary of schoolboys' howlers: Acidity—To stop voting. Devotee—To stop voting. Cloister—A congregation of oysters. Quadrant—The fifth child of four born all at once. Maca-

Spoonerisms (cont'd): Here's the well-known joke historian, setting the record straight again: writes Ben Y. of Monte Carlo. "The deathless line 'Don't look now, but your ship is slowing' is attributed to 'Easy' Simpson, a highly gifted author of 1964 ABC broadcast of the 'Take It From Here' show. The line, eliciting the requisite moans from the audience, was topped, believe it or not, by a female comedian, to wit: 'Don't look now, but your ship is slowing.'"
